Celebrating the 20th Anniversary of INDEN

Global Perspectives on Doctoral Education in Nursing

This day and a half conference will feature noted educators from around the globe as well as faculty and student presentations, posters, and interactive sessions to explore innovative models of doctoral nursing education that promote faculty and student scholarship worldwide as well as challenges, opportunities and future directions. Sessions will also highlight innovative approaches for enhanced international collaboration to promote access and capacity building for sustained quality doctoral education and post-graduation productivity.

Objectives:

1. Describe innovative models of doctoral nursing education that promote faculty and student scholarship worldwide.
2. Identify and evaluate challenges, opportunities, and future directions for doctoral nursing education globally.
3. Explore the range of opportunities and innovative approaches for enhanced international collaboration to promote access and capacity building for sustained quality doctoral education and post-graduation productivity.
